February 19, 2016

Dear Parents/Guardians,

The staff at KMS is continually striving to find ways to support and help students academically and emotionally while preparing them for adulthood. One issue that we as a staff have struggled with is completion of work. When we assign work, whether in class or as homework, it is our intent that it has purpose and relevance. The knowledge and skills that are encompassed in these assignments is necessary for success in our classes at KMS, and beyond.

Starting on Monday, February 22, 2016, we will be kicking off KMS PAW Hour every day after school.

PAW Hour will be required when students have not completed necessary work by the due date. This is not punishment or discipline, but rather a mechanism to help students learn the information they need for success. If your student has work that is not completed, they will be contacting you during the school day to let you know they will be staying after school that day and to make a plan to arrange a ride home.

Sincerely,

Kirk Cameron
Principal
